1. Achiever- Achievers describe a constant need for achievement. You begin your day at zero and feel that you must accomplish something before the end of the day. In order to feel good about yourself you must be accomplishing something. You have an internal fire building inside you and it pushes you to do more.

2. Activator- When a decision is made you must act. You make a decision, take action, stand back and look at your decision, and then learn from it. You put yourself out there and are the one people count on to get things done.

3. Adaptability- You are, at the heart, a very flexible person who can adapt to many situations. You can be counted on to get things done even when you are being pulled in many different directions.

4. Analytical- You like to peel back the layers to find out how things and people work. People see you as logical. You don’t just take someone’s word for it, you decide for yourself, based on facts.

5. Commander/Leader- You take charge. Unlike some people who are afraid to voice their opinion, you feel no discomfort in doing so. You are not frightened with confrontation because you know it is the first step in resolving a problem. People are drawn to you and expect you to make decisions for the whole group.

6. Communicator- People listen to you. You have the talent of getting a point across and causing people to listen to you. You capture the attention of others.

13. Positivity- You are generous with your compliments of others, quick to smile, and always on the lookout for the positive in situations. Others are drawn to you because the world is a much better place when you are around. Your enthusiasm is contagious.

14. Relator- You get a great deal of pleasure and strength from being around those who are close to you. You desire deep relationships. You believe a relationship is only valuable if it is genuine. No matter how busy you are you stay in contact with your friends.
